Edmonton Supplies Territory as Far
East as Humboldt—Enquiries
From Manitoba

The coal tonnage on the Canadian Northern railway is steadily increasing. During the month of January 400 tons were shipped to points down the line. Edmonton now supplies the entire territory as far east as Humboldt and the coal market is steadily growing.

Three cars were also shipped to Winnipeg by Sharp & May, as a trial consignment to be tested in public institutions there.

At the Canadian Northern office, here, inquiries are received almost every day for prices and samples of the Edmonton coal, some of the inquiries coming from right in the Souris country, adjacent to the lignite belt down there.

The outlook for Edmonton coal is very bright and before another year has passed it will undoubtedly be established in every market from here to the great lakes.

HEAD CUT FROM BODY

Stranger Arrested for Brutal Murder of Nova Scotia Farmer

Ellershouse, N.S., Feb. 7.—The body of Freeman Harvie, with his head decapitated was found in his cellar this morning. He had not been seen since last Friday morning. Geo. Stanley, a young Englishman, and Jas. Fisher, a simple minded young man are under arrest. Stanley pretended he had bought property from Harvie, and was endeavoring to sell the stock and furniture for what he could get, explaining Harvie's absence by saying he had gone to Halifax.

Halifax, N.S., Feb. 8.—The man Stanley who is under arrest in connection with the murder of Freeman Harvie says his name is Cavanaugh and that he comes from Ireland. The saw with which the murderer severed his victim's head from the body was found last evening and was taken to Windsor and deposited with the Crown Prosecutor. Stanley half confesses his guilt, saying he was not the only one to blame, but tries to incriminate Fisher and Ed. McCarthy. It is believed that Stanley killed Harvie after leading Fisher to believe he had bought the farm and stock from him.

THE FRANKLIN DIAMOND CASE BEGUN IN THE SUPREME COURT

Plaintiff tells the Story of Trading Piano for Spurious Gems—Jewelers Testify to the Value of the Jewels

An interesting case is occupying the attention of supreme court today. It is that in which Geo. Franklin is the defendant, charged with selling to A. Williamson Taylor, of the firm of Weeks & Taylor, of Edmonton, bogus diamonds for $500 in payment of which he received from Mr. Taylor a piano valued at $275 and a note for the balance, $225.

When the court opened, His Lordship further reserved judgment in the case tried yesterday, of J. B. Johnson, for a few days.

The trial of Geo. Franklin was then proceeded with.

The chief witness, Arthur Williamson Taylor, was first put in the witness box. He said he went to reside in the boarding-house of the accused on Fifth street about the beginning of last December with his sister. He left shortly after December 7, leaving a piano behind. The defendant wished to purchase the piano, the price of which was to be $275. The defendant said that he had not the cash to pay for the piano, but had some very valuable diamonds, which he offered in payment and which he said had cost him over $500. Witness said he consumed on "the deal" might be consumed on the piano. Franklin and his wife came down to the office of witness, who went to Mr. Nankin's jewelry store with the jewels. Defendant explained to Nankin that he had paid $500 for them. Mr. Nankin at that time made no test, but examined them with a glass, and said that they looked first class. Witness gave defendant a note for $225. Miss Taylor, sister of witness kept the diamonds, until after day when Mr. Nankin called at witness' office. The diamonds were taken back to Mr. Nankin's store, where a thorough test was made. Witness then took jewels to Franklin's house in company with Christopher Lucas, and told him they had been tested and found to be worth about sixty cents. Witness said that he did not want any trouble, but he was not going to be imposed upon. Defendant stated again that he had paid $500 for the jewels. He said he would come down to witness' office in the afternoon and fix the matter. Witness recovered the piano by legal means. Defendant did not appear at the office in the afternoon, but witness saw him down town.

Cross-examined by Mr. Biggar, witness stated that the interest which a friend had with him in the piano was a chattel mortgage for $290. The friend had given him instructions to dispose of the piano. Witness said when Nankin had given his opinion that the jewels were first-class he had handed his note over to Franklin for $225.

S. Nankin, the jeweller, was next called. Taylor had visited him in company with Miss Taylor and Franklin and his wife, and was asked by Taylor to endorse a note for him, which witness refused to do. When the diamonds were brought to him, Taylor told him that he had learned from a reliable party that the diamonds were genuine, and witness, on the strength of this statement, did not make a test of the jewels. When they were later brought back to him by Mr. Taylor, he tested them and found them to be bogus diamonds, made of glass and paste. Cross-examined, witness said that the jewels were not genuine because they did not give the color of the light. He remembered Franklin saying that if the jewels were not genuine, he would make the people who sold them to him give him genuine ones.

Miss Taylor was the next witness. Mrs. Franklin had expressed the wish to the witness to purchase their piano. Mr. Taylor had sent her with a letter to the Franklin to settle for the piano. The Franklin said they would rather settle with diamonds as they had a great many valuable diamonds. They told witness that they had a ring which they had left in the Bank on Commerce, and on which they had secured a $200 loan. They also showed witness two ear-rings, which they said they had purchased for $250 each. Witness' brother accepted the jewels, and gave piano and note for $225 for them. Witness recognized rings produced as those worn by Mrs. Franklin and which Mrs. Franklin had told witness were very valuable.

E. Rayner, jeweller, was called. He examined the jewels produced, and said they were crystals covered with mercury. The setting represented the value, and they might possibly be worth $1. Witness said the difference between spurious and genuine diamonds was that spurious diamonds had no reflection.

The case was resumed this afternoon.

Yesterday afternoon's session of the supreme court was taken up with the continuance of the trial of J. B. Johnson, charged with arson. A good deal of contradictory evidence was produced. Mr. McDonald in his address to His Worship at the conclusion of the evidence, based his case upon the fact that lumber is usually green in Alberta yards and that coal oil would be necessary to set it afire and he stated that it was quite apparent that the lumber in Johnston & Stewart's yard had been set on fire by the use of coal oil.

His Lordship said that no evidence had been produced showing that the lumber in the yard was green.

The first witness examined in the case yesterday afternoon was Eugene Poulin, who keeps a shop at old Vegreville. Poulin testified to having sold the accused 10 gallons of coal oil between the 20th and 25th of December last. The accused had taken the oil away in a ten gallon keg which he obtained at a hotel. Accused had also purchased a watering can which had a leak in the bottom. Witness identified the can produced as the one he sold the accused. Accused said when he bought the oil that "McLean is out of oil." He said in connection with buying the can that his floor was always dusty. Cross-examined by Mr. Biggar, Poulin said he used the can in his store previous to selling it to the accused, to sprinkle the floor, and had never used it for holding oil.

E. J. Bellisle, blacksmith at Vegreville, was next called. He recognized the accused as the man who brought him the can to have the leak in the bottom repaired.

Pierre Armstrong, keeps a livery stable at old Vegreville. He drove the accused on the evening of 31st Dec. to within half a mile of Lavoie. The accused then said he was cold and would walk the rest of the way.

Frank Amato, who keeps a hotel at Vegreville, testified to the accused procuring a keg at his hotel.

Thos. MacAmmond, a livery man at New Vegreville, put in the box said, the accused hired a team to go to the old town. After his return, witness saw keg of coal oil in stable. Accused left stable for Lavoie a few days afterwards with keg and came back with the rig he had hired on Sunday morning.

Next witness called was Alexander Goodwin, magistrate at New Vegreville, who was present at the preliminary hearing and who recognized the can as the one produced at the preliminary.

A. Chard, station agent of the C.N.R. at Vegreville, testified to the accused buying a ticket for Vermilion early in the morning of January 1st.

Norman Murray, lawyer of Vermilion, and agent for the Commercial Union Fire Insurance Co. London, testified to taking an application for insurance from the accused on 18th of December. The application had been returned from head office in Winnipeg some time after the fire at Johnston's lumber yard. Accused had applied for $4,000 insurance on his stock of lumber, on the return of the application, Mr. Murray had given the accused an interim receipt, and explained to him that this would be an effectual policy for forty days or until it was cancelled by the company. Accused came to Murray's office on Jan. 1st, and gave notice of fire, and asked that steps be taken to have damages settled by an appraiser. Accused had said the probable cause of the fire was sparks from the train.

Constable Wm. Blythe, of the N.W.M.P., was then called, and testified to the fire and sprinkler as those handed over to him by Messrs. Phaler and Ford.

Henry Meredith was called by the defense and stated that he had dinner and supper with the accused on Sunday the 31st December. Saw him again at station about 8 o'clock in the morning. Mr. McDonald arose and stated to the witness that two witnesses before him had sworn that the accused had taken supper at a hotel in the old town.

Mardon, the chairman who kept the restaurant was called by the defense and swore that the accused had taken dinner and supper at his restaurant on Sunday, the 31st, together with Henry Meredith. They had supper between half past six and seven.

This concluded the taking of evidence and His Worship reserved judgment until this morning.

HOCKEY

The Journal has accepted a challenge from the Bulletin, for a hockey match, and have volunteered to put a team upon the ice against the Bulletin seven. The rivals will cross sticks at the Thistle rink on Saturday evening between the hours of ten and eleven. No admission fee is being charged for the match.

For the game, the Bulletin will introduce a fast bunch of puck-chasers who are slickhandlers and body-checkers from away back, and it is not to be doubted for a moment that they will do up the rival type-alingers in such a manner that they will look like nothing but a pile of nonpareil p. Following is the gang from the office of the Bulletin.

HOCKEY MATCH TONIGHT

In the Thistle rink tonight the Thistles of Edmonton will play an exhibition game with Strathcona. The line-up of both teams will probably remain unchanged from that which has played in previous games.

On Monday the boys will leave on their trip to Winnipeg. Dobson who teaches in Alberta College, is unable to get away, and will not accompany the team. The number of the party is limited to 17, so that those who intend accompanying the boys should hand in their names at once in order to secure the rates.

FEBRUARY A GOOD BUILDING MONTH

There have been more building permits issued already during February than for the whole of January and the indications now are that operations will be general at a very early date this spring. Besides the Spurrell building, which is to be built this spring on Peace and Second streets, applications have already been made during February for several smaller buildings and residences, and the prospects are that there will be several very important permits issued before the end of the present month.

Some of the permits issued so far this month are:

Fred Knight, for a residence, to be built on their west side of Eighth street in the first block north of Jasper. The cost is stated at $2,600.

J. Pollard has made application for a permit to build a cottage on Eighth street, at a cost of $1,400.

W. L. Woodhouse is building a cottage in the east end for his own use at a cost of $200.

Miss C. E. Fenton, Athabasca street, is building herself a residence at a cost of $300.

E. D. Grierison is building a laundry for the Alberta hotel at a cost of $1,500.

Jas. W. Clausland, who owns the hotel on Second street which was not large enough to comply with the license requirements, is putting on an addition to cost $1,000.

The National Trust Company is building a vault as an addition to their building at the corner of First and Jasper.

Besides these there are quite a number of small buildings under construction which help to swell the total.

There appear to be some bad characters floating around the vicinity just at present. One night last week three desperate looking individuals tried to force their way into Mr. Nash's place of business on Ross street, and, being unsuccessful, made their way around to the back, thinking the place deserted. THE MANUFACTURER'S CASE

The British manufacturer should harbor no poetic hallucination that his Canadian brother will welcome him as a competitor in the Canadian market. If any such misapprehension has existed it should be effectually dispelled by the representations of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association to the tariff commission. While these gentlemen gave some care to their manner of expression, the substance of their case was a demand for an increased duty against foreign manufacturers coupled with a proposal for "reasonable protection" against British manufacturers. To put it another way the Canadian manufacturers are willing to give a preference with "reasonable protection" to the British manufacturer, provided they are shielded by an unreasonable protection from all other manufacturers. In return for the exclusion of all other manufacturers, the Canadian manufacturer is prepared to appease his patriotism by granting the British manufacturer a preference, always provided such preference be not large enough to enable the British manufacturer to compete in the Canadian market. The Canadian manufacturer would quite willingly exchange a "preference" which would not be a preference for a protection which would be "adequate protection."

THE WRONG METHOD

A gentleman purporting to represent a publishing house in Winnipeg, has been in the city for the past few days soliciting advertisements for a publication advertising the towns and cities of Alberta. It is understood that should sufficient "encouragement" be received by way of advertising patronage from the local business men, several pages of the volume will be devoted to Edmonton. The public spirit of the business man is thus made the lever with which to pry open his purse.

Whatever might be the general results of a well-prepared publication setting forth the resources of the Province as a whole, the scheme proposed does not commend itself as one likely to yield the best returns for the money. If Edmonton news advertising it needs advertising as Edmonton and not as one of a hundred western communities—advertising which directs the attention of the observer to Edmonton and to no other town. The only effective advertising publication for a community is one which deals exclusively and exhaustively with the resources and advantages of that community and the business men should not allow themselves to be separated from their money in the mistaken notion that Edmonton will profit in any considerable measure from one lonely chapter immersed in a pretentious volume of good or bad prose, telling of the advantages and prospects of every other Alberta town.

The other weakness of the plan from a public standpoint is that the circulation of such publication in the manner best calculated to produce results for Edmonton cannot be assured. In these days when of the making of immigration literature there is no end, the advertising which pays is the advertising which is properly placed. Railway companies and immigration officers may be willing enough to hand out all the matter sent them, but cannot be expected to give particular care to the circulation of literature relating to Edmonton more than that given to pamphlets descriptive of other towns. Probably fifty, possibly one hundred, western towns will issue pamphlets setting forth their respective merits during the coming season. To dump a carload of Edmonton literature into the common channels of distribution would be to lose it in the flood. Personally directed advertising is the kind that pays best. Every man in Edmonton knows some other man who would make a useful and desirable citizen. These are the men to reach and they can be reached and only reached with certainty through the medium of common acquaintance. A pamphlet about Edmonton sent by a friend in Edmonton is the advertisement which is read and which carries weight.

A pretender to the Russian throne has been arrested. Serves him right. Any person who would covet Nicholas' job ought to be locked up.

That rumored accession of British Columbia has again made its appearance in England. While the Pacific Province continues to run in debt about a million dollars per year it is not likely to accede from the resources of the annual subsidy.

The Mail and Empire declares Hon. Sydney Fisher should resign, which is about the best sign that Mr. Fisher is a capable member of the Federal Cabinet. The pronouncement of the Mail need excite no wonderment as we have no evidence that the resignation of the whole Laurier Government would give that journal pain.

Mr. Haultain is receiving considerable eulogy from the Conservative press for his alleged refusal of a gift of $10,000 from his Saskatchewan followers. As a matter of fact Mr. Haultain was not offered any $10,000. He was offered a resolution that $10,000 be raised for presentation to himself. Considering the continuous profligations of property made by those same followers Mr. Haultain displayed good sense in declining to undertake to collect the bill.

The Ottawa Journal says: "Manitoba cabinet ministers having been getting but $3,000 a year, it is high time indeed that they got more. In Winnipeg $3,000 a year is equivalent to probably little over $2,000 in Eastern Canada. If any people in this country expect to get decent service from political leaders at little over 'the money a first-class mechanic can make they are bound to get surprised.' It remains to be said that the members of the Manitoba Government are by no means first-class mechanics."

In the refusal of a wife to place a mustard plaster on her husband's side sufficient grounds for a divorce, will be decided by a United States Judge before long. Francis Gunlock of Chicago claims that his wife built a plaster to take a sink out of his back but would not place it. If the lady had declined to remove the plaster the grounds would have been ample. But the man who goes to law because his wife will not assist him to reveal in the miseries of a brand new mustard plaster is akin to the ill advised thief who courts the back-ache by stealing a buck-saw.

The Montreal Herald is not fearful of the decision of the C. P. R. to make Quebec and not Montreal the terminal port for their trans-Atlantic steamers. The Herald says: "It seems to me decided that the Canadian Pacific will make an effort to 'handle their new fast steamships at Quebec thus avoiding what risks other ships take in coming farther up the river. It goes without saying that if such vessels can be profitably handled at Quebec a great railway company like the Canadian Pacific is in the best position to make the experiment a success. Even at some relative loss, such a railway could in all likelihood, deliver to the ships the cargoes they must have. It remains to be seen whether the possession of this advantage is enough in itself to overcome such disadvantages as have spoiled such other experiments of the same sort made in recent years. This is not the first time people have been assured they could do better at Quebec than at Montreal, as the Wolvin and the Leyland people, amongst others could testify. And it may be that the experiment will turn out pretty much the same as the others. Montreal, at all events is not nervous on the subject. There are enough cargo ships coming here to make it a matter of very little consequence whether a fast passenger ship or two stays at Quebec. A demonstration that Quebec could handle such business would indeed be welcomed. But it would not surprise anyone very much if, before long the C.P.R. fast boats came up to Montreal alongside the Allan's 'biners.'"

SPORTSCRICKET
(Contributed)

A general meeting of the Edmonton cricket club will take place next Monday, 12th inst., in H. B. Boyes & Co.'s office adjoining the H.B. Co.'s stores. It is hoped that there will be an influential turn out of citizens concerned in the future welfare of this and other games.

The object of the meeting is to discuss the means if possible of procuring a cricket ground, the club's present need being an urgent one; and unless something is done soon it will probably be too late to purchase a place near enough. Members of the club should not allow the game to die out; games are essential to the health besides being influential to the character, and we trust that Edmonton will not be behind in doing its duty in this respect. Should a suitable ground be obtained we hope that one result would be the furtherance of games among the public school boys of this city. They need their recreation, and they need to be encouraged and instructed when playing at those pastimes—at present very little is done for them—what they do, they do by themselves; and we are confident that the street is a very poor substitute for a play ground.

With reference to the formation of a cricket league for Alberta and Saskatchewan we can report favorable replies from Calgary and Regina. We are waiting to hear from Lloydminster and Vegreville and other points on the new railway.

WINNIPEG'S BIG BONSPIEL

Winnipeg, Feb. 7.—Favored by weather conditions, the bonspiel opened with play in the Dingwall trophy. There were only a couple of defaults in the early draws, so well had the ice committee accomplished its task and they were due to the late arrival of a train. The usual surpluses were furnished of course. Winnipeg rinks held down their own in the opening play though a couple went down to defeat. R. C. Irving of the Granites, was one of the unfortunates and Ike Pittblado was another, the latter going out before Reynolds of Beulah.

Western games—Thistle, Jamieson 11, Indian Head, Boyd, 12; Prince Albert, Striton, 13, Thistles, Sinclair 9; Moose Jaw, Bethel, 6, Granitic, Campbell, 12; St. Albert, Mitchell, 12, Collingwood, Cuf, 8; Thistles, Douglas 14, Indian Head, Mackenzie, 11; Manitoba College, Clare, 10, Oxbow, Bishop, 12; Regina, Balfour, 12; Wesley, Benson 1. Perley, of Wolsley, secured his game by default from Minnedosa, as did Walsh, of Oxbow, from Emerson, Man. R. Gray's rink, of Chatham, did not have a chance to show their talent, as their opponents Hackney, of Roostern, did not put in an appearance.

Other games: Moose Jaw, Plaxton 2, Civic Nicholas, 13; Gladstone, Morton, 8, Lauder, Beattie, 12; Saskatoon, Young, 8, Birtle, Copeland, 14; Regina, Balfour, 12, Benson, Wolsley 7; Carlyle, Riddell, 7, Civic, Smith, 12; Regina, McIvor, 15, Clearwater, Taylor, 10; Bawden, Med. College, 10, Hill, Sinaluta, 8; Indian Head, Hunter, 17, Pilot Mound, Steadman, 10; Minnedosa, Drummond, 12, Ferguson, Wolsley, 6; Pipestone, Bridgett, 16, Antler, McAllister 6; Monroe, Granite 16, Brower, Saskatoon, 13; Stonewall, Hall, 4, Carlyle, Kellett, 12.

LAC STE ANNE
(Correspondence)

This week our village is being favored by a visit from L. C. Ward, who is one of the best known and most capable land, timber and mineral guides and locators in this western country. He is favorably impressed with our settlement and reports that the best highway to the undeveloped but inviting west is the present excellent trail by way of Lac Ste. Anne and Michaelson's ranch on the Paddle River. Mr. Ward has just finished the locating of sixty German families on homesteads in Township 57, Range 4 and 5, west of 5th M. These settlers are well satisfied with their locations and speak highly of the adaptability of these sections for agricultural and ranching purposes. In the district just referred to which comprises many parts of the Pembina, the Paddle and the McLeod Rivers, five large survey parties are at work rapidly subdividing townships preparatory for the advent of homesteaders. The crying need of the country just now, and the matter of greatest importance to the incoming settlers is the immediate improvement of the Lac Ste. Anne trail and its further development westward, so that it can be utilized as a wagon road in summer. This will necessitate the erection of two ferries, one at the Lac Ste. Anne narrows, and the other at McLeod's Old Crossing in the Pembina. For this purpose a petition asking for Government aid is being circulated. The work can be done at comparatively small expense.

Mr. A. Amidon has returned from his dangerous trip during the recent cold weather to the Lobstick. Though badly frost-bitten he is able to move about and will resume his homestead duties at Onaway.

Messrs. Coates and Seton, two of the fishing magnates at White Whale Lake, were in the village over Sunday.

Mr. LeMoin, D.L.S., who is subdividing west of the Pembina, passed through the village on his way to Edmonton. He will return to his party in a few days.

A large party of Onaway's young people last week visited our burg, and spent a very enjoyable afternoon skating on the glassy surface of the Lake.

On Saturday last an election for the two local improvement districts, No. 27 B. 5 was held in the school house. Wellington Lee, who ably filled the position for one of the districts, during several years past, declined to be a candidate and N. D. Steele was elected for the ensuing term. In the other district J. E. McConnell was re-elected.

On Monday last Mr. Renfret's team arrived from his survey camp west of the Pembina for a load of supplies and mail, Lac Ste. Anne being the post office and base of supplies for the survey parties operating in the districts west of here.

Privy Council at the Court of Windsor on the 23rd of June, 1870, it was declared that Rupert's Land and the North West Territories should become part of Canada, on the 15th of July, 1870. Accordingly on the 15th of July, 1870, this country became part of the Dominion of Canada.

4. At Ottawa, on the 23rd of May, 1890, I submitted in writing a large number of claims including the retired servants claim, to the Minister of the Interior, which were afterwards discussed by us, at three interviews Mr. Burgess being also present. In dealing with the claims, I wrote the Minister as follows:

"The several modes of acquiring lands before the transfer were:

1. By purchase from Lord Selkirk.

2. By grants from the one-tenth part of Lord Selkirk's estate, reserved for that purpose by the deed of 1811.

3. By purchase from Chief Peguis.

4. By the Homestead Law of Assiniboia.

Lord Selkirk's titles to lands on the Red and Assiniboine rivers are in our possession and also maps of his property."

At the end of the third day the Minister informed me that the department would consider the claims more fully and give a reply in writing. I then left Ottawa, and on the 11th of June, 1900, I received a letter from the Deputy Minister of the Interior in which he wrote as follows regarding the Manitoba Act:

"All modes of requiring lands before the transfer mentioned in your letter would appear to be covered by the provisions of the Manitoba Act, except purchases from the Indian Chief Peguis."

Have we anything to show that Sir George Simpson, attorney for the Selkirk executors, ever gave retired servants of the Hudson's Bay company free grants of land in the Selkirk estate?

Yes. We still have a few of Sir George Simpson's certificates for lands given gratuitously to retired servants of the Hudson's Bay company. But besides the certificates that we hold, the writer has to say that when he was Deputy Registrar for the County of Lisgar, it was his privilege to examine applications made for patents by old residents and in many instances the settler produced a certificate for lands that had been given by Sir George Simpson, free of charge, and this certificate was sent to Ottawa along with the application for a patent from the Crown.

The late Thomas Sinclair, Esq., Registrar for Lisgar, and also the late Colonel W. N. Kennedy, Registrar for Selkirk, have handled several of the certificates of Sir George Simpson in the same way. These certificates should be on file in the Department of the Interior at Ottawa.

Register "B," a copy of which has been in Ottawa for many years, shows many free grants of land to retired servants of the Hudson's Bay company.

All honor to Mr. John H. McTavish for protecting Colony Register A. for our use and benefit, and for helping us as far as he could under the circumstances.

I shall now conclude by trusting that this short history of the claim of the retired servants of the Hudson's Bay company will meet with the approval of the committee whose wishes I have endeavored to carry out.

And that our Parliamentarians in the Federal House of Commons, and in the Legislatures of Manitoba and Saskatchewan will examine most carefully all the titles connected from the 12th of June, 1811, and after having done so, will then deal with us according to Her Majesty's promise—"in the spirit of British justice."

R. A. ROBERTSON,
Sole Agent - EdmontonBENJAMIN FRANKLIN

Francis Doar in Montreal Herald.

There are rare seasons in the march of time, when shadows of past worth and dignity leave their graves, and walk with light and noiseless step through the thoroughfares along which falls the ceaseless tread of living men. Athwart the light of the present do they cast the shade of years that are gone. They view with a far-seeing wisdom the progress of the world and its work; they recall to a busy people words and lives of honorable intent; they warn them of a blindness that is tending toward confusion. And then they pass on.

Such a shadow of the past is the figure of Benjamin Franklin, the two hundredth anniversary of whose birth is observed on the seventeenth of this month. He represents an age when men abounded, men of worth, of honor, of dignity, of patriotism. He comes to an age in which corruption stands aghast at its own enormity; in which the guinea is the solace of honor; political preferences of dignity, and the creed of selfish individualism is the substitute of that of patriotism. And amongst such a debris of national and personal shame this ghostly visitor can read but one warning to a heedless generation:

Ill fares the land, to hastening ills a prey,
Where wealth accumulates and men decay.

For nearly a century that warning has been sounded to thoughtless ears. The reformer, the poet, the socialist, have all uttered it. Tenyson calls the world bitterly to task for worshipping a golden image, warning it of the coming time of reckoning. The student of literature has sighed that we have no great writers, no great poets, no great artists. The thinker has cried out that a blind generation leads the blind. But in even stronger rebuke than these, stand out the early builders, mocking, with their iron constitutions and fearless minds, the generations that have followed them. They were brought up in the open; they filled the ground; they felled the trees of the forest; then clung tenaciously to principle. There was no swordplay, no fencing, but a straight hand to hand fight with life—plain living, plain thinking, plain speaking. And, in consequence, they were men of integrity, of common sense, of shrewdness, of fearlessness. Pioneers of a vast unsettled country, they lived in a time of men, in a time when character was a man's wealth, and esteem its interest. Stern-featured, and strong, they were Spartans in a crude way; they did not encourage luxury. And when they died their children's greatest inheritance was somewhat of their broad, sound, simple natures.

The nearest approach to that old pioneer, today, is the Westerner. We speak of the breeziness, the bluntness, the brawniness of a Western homesteader. But even to him clings the taint of an age of gain, and though the life of the prairie gives his shoulders breadth, and the freedom restores to him primitive strength there is the "land" and the "wheat" fever to threaten his best moral interests.

It is from out among those earlier men that Franklin stands, shrewd, wonderful-brained, honorable, fearless, a man of the time of men. He was a forerunner of the present day in its great scientific research, and a child of that age of strength and independence in which he lived; a marvelous combination—a combination of which, made out of a printer's apprentice, a philosopher, an author, a statesman, a diplomatist. He discovered electricity in the lightning, and was vitally instrumental in bringing about independence for the American colonies. Incidentally, by honest personal efforts and business insight, he made a fortune of some one hundred thousand dollars, and at the age of forty-two retired ed from business, because he had accumulated what seemed to him sufficient wealth.

Today men of forty-two, with one hundred thousand dollars, would be just beginning to think seriously of going in for speculation in the stock market, in the hope of making something of account before they died.

But then this an age of gain. It is money that counts—whether made honorably or not matters little. Independence is dressed in a tinsel gown of petty license. Social conditions have become a problem—in truth, it is an age of problems.

And if we put down the query: "Where are your dreamers?" and still again, "Where are your artists?" and still again, "Where are your thinkers?" There is one that persists in repeating itself:

"Where are your men?" And to that this age can make but one answer: "In banks, in stock exchanges, in warehouses—wherever there is a chance to make money."

And it will be well if the world hears the warning words, as they repeat themselves:

Ill fares the land, to hastening ills a prey,
Where wealth accumulates and men decay.Auction Sale

A special prize will be offered for the best lady skater and the best skater in each class. Features of the evening will be a comic hockey match and a mangle skate, which is being prepared by several of the young people under the direction of Mrs. Dr. Harrison. Rink open for costumed skaters at 7.30.

—The Canadian Press Association may visit Edmonton next year. The association met in Toronto last week when this proposal which was made by the Canadian Northern last year was revived. The Globe says: "The association devoted some time to discussing the proposed arrangements for an excursion for 1906. Mr. John A. Cooper outlined a trip by lake and rail from Sarnia to Port Arthur, then by C. N. R. to Edmonton, with side trips then back to Warman Junction with side trips to Prince Albert and Regina; then through southern Manitoba to Winnipeg, home via St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie. The discussion revealed a disposition to shorten the trip by the omission of the American end. The discussion will be resumed later on."

—Owing to a lack of familiarity with the location of school districts about Edmonton, the management of the seed fair find that they have omitted one or more districts whose school houses are within twelve miles of Edmonton. Any district thus omitted should prepare an exhibit and the committee will endeavor to secure the money necessary to buy the additional prizes, but in any event will permit all such districts within twelve miles of Edmonton or Strathcona to compete for the school flag. An extension of time will be given up to 10 a.m. on Tuesday to make entries in the school district competitions to all districts thus omitted. The management regret the error and are anxious to make all possible amends.

SAMPLES FOR SEED FAIR.

The samples of seed grain forwarded by the Dominion Government to be used as standards for the purpose of grading the exhibits at the seed fair to be held in Robertson's hall on Monday and Tuesday next, February 12th and 13th, are now at the board of trade rooms ready to be placed on exhibit. There are fourteen samples altogether, covering all the standards of grain which will be recognized at the fair. The samples are from Manitoba, and in many respects are very good samples, but with regard to the oat samples it is a striking and noticeable fact that the samples checked as Extra-Special, and considered as a sample of the best seed obtainable in Manitoba, would not, if it was put in a farmers wagon and placed on sale in the Edmonton market, get any better grading than No. 3. White. Better oats are being sold for feed right in Edmonton every day in the year.
